Pandemonium in Maha Assembly over Nagpur factory blast

Opposition stages walkout

IAN S
MUMBAI

The Maharashtra Legislative Assembly witnessed stormy scenes on Thursday as opposition parties clashed with the government over a massive explosion at SBL Energy Limited in Raulgao, Nagpur district. The blast, which resulted in the deaths of 18 workers led to an aggressive showdown, culminating in a walkout by the opposition.

State Labour Minister Akash Fundkar informed the House that the state government has officially shut down the facility. He stated that FIRs have been filed against 21 individuals, including the factory owner and several officials.

Ruling and opposition members expressed anguish over the death of 18 workers and demanded strong action against the company management. "The government is extremely serious about this incident. We have invoked charges of culpable homicide not amounting to murder," Fundkar said.

He added that under the new labour laws, the state now holds the power to shut down companies immediately if safety discrepancies are found. A high-level probe into the alleged negligence of Labour Department officials is also underway, with a report expected within eight days.

The debate was initiated through a 'Calling Attention' motion. Leader of the Congress

Legislature Party, Vijay Wadetiwar, launched a scathing attack, labelling the incident not as an accident, but as a "massacre" caused by the collusion between the administration and the owners.
